

Guide Dogs NT and the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS)

What is the National Disability Insurance Scheme?

The NDIS is a government-funded initiative which provides individualised support to people under 65 with a permanent and significant disability. The NDIS enables eligible people with a disability, their families and carers to choose the services they receive and who provides them. The scheme covers the costs of reasonable and necessary services and equipment, and provides greater choice and control over what services are provided.

When can I access the NDIS?

The NDIS is being rolled out at different times across Australia.

- In the Northern Territory, the scheme has been available for people under the age of 65 in the Barkly region since July 2014.
- Between July 2016 and July 2018, the scheme will be progressively rolled out to regions across the NT.

For more information about the roll-out in your area, visit www.ndis.gov.au/nt.

Am I eligible for the NDIS?

You may be eligible for the NDIS if you are under 65 years of age and have a permanent and significant disability which substantially reduces your ability to participate in everyday activities. Some children under 6 years of age with a developmental delay are also eligible.

You can check your eligibility by using the NDIS Access Checklist at www.ndis.gov.au/ndis-access-checklist. If you think you may be eligible, the next step is to contact the National Disability Insurance Agency (NDIA), who administer the scheme, on 1800 800 110 and ask for an Access Request Form, which is required to register for the NDIS.

Guide Dogs NT is committed to providing equitable services to clients, regardless of NDIS eligibility. If you aren't eligible for the NDIS, Guide Dogs NT can continue to provide services to you.
